

Fourth international meeting:

29 - 30 - 31 July 2022

THREE DAYS AGAINST TECHNO-SCIENCES

In Altradimora, strada Caranzano 72, Alessandria (AL), Italy

The program will follow shortly

Last year we ended our invitation to these three days with a call to all organize themselves individually or collectively, as everyone saw fit. In this historical phase, in addition to seeking ways intervene, we are interested in understanding what is happening. Because it is precisely the sense, the profound meaning of this Great Transformation, which is escaping most of us. What are irreversibly cut off are precisely those meanings that could make us recognize a threat and trigger the same spirit of rebellion. We are more convinced than ever that once we have recognized the extent of the Great Transformation - of which the declared pandemic was only a glimpse - it will be the critical spirit that has survived the induced fears and toxins of propaganda that will develop proposals for intervention appropriate to what we are losing in an irreversible way: what will not have been penetrated by genetic erosion and biological emptying for a new redefinition, first cybernetic and then chimerical of the human being.

Critics and future techno-rebels will find themselves in this new ground that is impossible to signify with old patterns and models of interpretation, united by the common urgency of those who rejected the stated and underlying principles of reducing not only the human, but the whole living, considering that the whole of nature is in this disintegrating vortex, in a simulacrum - nothing to do with the silvery remains of dragonflies - in which one will no longer recognize oneself in what one was before, but in what will be given later.

This is why we organize these days, to develop a critical spirit and try to detoxify from the massive propaganda that crushes every reflection in the bud with formulas disguised as thought, but which are merely more sophisticated algorithm mechanics than the previous ones.

These are days to be together, to get to know each other, to intertwine reflections, experiences and even different paths, but united by the profound awareness of what is at stake - the very sense of humanity - and united in the centrality of the developments of this techno-scientific system, unlike those who think of themselves as the only repository of paths of freedom.

We have learned in these years of declared pandemic to be wary of false critics like Zuboff and Harari, so loved by progressives and by all those who welcome that fluid criticism that never materializes into anything, respectful of the possibilities of the cybernetic paradigm. Upon arrival there is a promise of transhumanism for everyone, perhaps in the end that was precisely the undeclared intention?

We distance ourselves from the eternal expectations of those who make profession thought and political dispute. We know clearly the nature of the new bionanotechnological and cybernetic paradigm that is taking shape in society and in all bodies. This is enough for us to start meeting and it is not a small thing, it is essential to continue Resisting.
